Mac Process's North America Headquarters houses a state-of-the-art pneumatic conveying TestCenter featuring a full range of pneumatic conveying equipment. The TestCenter is centrally located in Kansas City, Missouri only a few miles from Kansas City's International Airport making it easily accessible and convenient for those wishing to observe their own product testing, or other live demonstrations.

The TestCenter features both carbon steel and stainless steel piping ranging from 125 ft. to 975 ft. in length. Ledge free couplings are used throughout the system for testing products with breakage concerns. Sight glasses provide visual observation of the conveying techniques.

We encourage customers to be present while their tests are run so that they can see firsthand how equipment and product perform.
